

One Stop Security Resource

AMT is a total security solutions provider that offers ready to use software, proven hardware, and complete system support. AMT has specialized experience in creating software for highly distributed security systems running as a service (SaaS) in customer owned data centers as well as central station monitoring environments. AMT further empowers their customers by providing source code, training and developer resources to customize their applications.

Proven Hardware

Off-the-shelf products from major manufacturers such as HID and SARGENT are replacing proprietary hardware systems as customers are no longer willing to accept vendor lock-in. HID's Edge and VertX are proven IP security devices that can leverage your existing infrastructure. The SARGENT Profile Series v.S2 WiFi all-in-one lockset brings ease of install resulting in a reduction of labor and costs.

Ready to use Software

WebBrix is an ASP.NET integrated security solution supporting non-proprietary security hardware such as HID Edge and Vertx and SARGENT Profile Series v.S2 WiFi all-in-one lockset.

Complete System Training & Support

AMT offers a variety of training courses to ensure you are prepared through every step of the process, including selling access control, installing, configuring and troubleshooting WebBrix and supporting hardware. Partnering with AMT for support lets you add our specialists to your support team giving you quicker, more successful installs, happier customers and higher profits.

Source Code

WebBrix is a modular, customizable application that lets you control its look and feature set. It is designed to be used either as a complete application or to serve as an access control subsystem, integrated into existing business processes or your own products. Source code and engineering assistance are available.

Software Engineering Services

AMT's software engineering services can provide the engineering work of customizing your WebBrix-based application or help you integrate it into your existing business processes or your own product. Working with AMT, your product can have its own look and feel and brand identity. We can completely replace the user interface or simply help with custom reports or other minor changes.
